

Project website

A website is a way of sharing information about the project, updating stakeholders and other interested parties with news from the project, and sharing advice and guidance. It is easy to keep information up-to-date, and it can be linked to other useful websites and information.