

Working with schools on climate adaptation

Schools can incorporate the subject of climate adaptation into their curricula, but the experience in Leiden shows that the teachers are becoming responsible for more and more subjects and that it is difficult to teach it all at school. In Leiden we try to unburden the schools by making knowledge available in the immediate vicinity. Schools can book numerous workshops on nature, technology, science and health at museums and other city partners. The municipality financially supports these city partners with an additional subsidy.

Example: Movie of the Wonder Passport, Lespakketten, Natuur- en milieueducatie, beweging voor Groenblauwe schoolpleinen
